

A View From the Pew– A reprint from May 2016

Recently I purchased a paperback copy of the book, One Way Love by Tullian Tchividjian, the grandson of Rev. Billy Graham. I was drawn to invest in this book after reading a page or two and before I knew who wrote it. I discovered its message about God’s grace to be as focused and penetrating and as a laser beam. I highly recommend this book to each member of our church family. Only when you are reading it will you come to understand the clear difference God’s grace is designed to make in your life.

I share with you below a paragraph from the book which speaks volumes in a simple yet profound way.

“The Gospel breaks the chain of reciprocity and the circular exchange. Since there is nothing we ultimately need from one another, we are free to do everything for one another. Spend our lives giving instead of taking; going to the back instead of getting to the front; sacrificing ourselves for others instead of sacrificing others for ourselves. The Gospel alone liberates us to live a life of scandalous generosity, unrestrained sacrifice, uncommon valor, and unbounded courage.” (P. 189, One Way Love)

How blessed we are to be recipients of God’s amazing grace! Thanks be to God for His loving kindness!

If you are interested in writing an article for “A View from the Pew...”, please call Betsy at the church office at 662-289-1412. We would love to share “your view from the pew” .
